Questions

- 1) Would you view yourself as a strict constructionist or a loose constructionist? (Answer this question with one concise paragraph)
- 2) Please interpret the following scenario and write a decision according to the ASUCI Constitution.

In This Scenario:

There is evidence to demonstrate that an executive officer is not fulfilling their responsibilities as outlined in the ASUCI Constitution and By-Laws. You are a member of Judicial Board and receive a legislation to remove the stipend of said executive officer until such time as they adequately fulfill their stated responsibilities. Legislative council passed and the executive cabinet approved of this legislation because of what they believed the executive officer was not fulfilling their obligation to the students of UC Irvine. The executive officer in question disputes the legislation council and executive board's authority to enact such legislation.

Write a decision detailing what YOU decide and why you chose that outcome. The format should follow the example:

ASUCI Judicial Board

To: Concerned Parties

From: Judicial Board Chair

Issue: Fill in Constitution section here or other relevant issue.

Decision: "We find in favor of..." or "We find against..."

Reasoning: Your reasons for the above statements, basically why you came to the decision you did. (Explain your finding in detail).
